FBLA-PBL Announces Director of Education Programs
Carla Boulton joins National Center team to lead programs to meet organization's mission and strategic plan

Reston, Va. – The Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda, Inc. (FBLA-PBL), the premier student business organization, today announced the appointment of Carla Boulton as the National Center's Director of Education Programs effective December 7, 2020.

As Director, Ms. Boulton will lead the organization's educational programs that include, but are not limited to: virtual and live conferences and workshops, asynchronous offerings, and division-specific programs such as the FBLA's Business Achievement Awards, Phi Beta Lambda's Career and Membership Achievement Program, and the FBLA-Middle Level LEAD program. The position is a new role created to support FBLA-PBL's mission and fulfill the organization's strategic plan goal to improve capacity and capabilities to lead as a Career Technical Student Organization (CTSO).

"Carla has a passion for helping teachers help students," tells FBLA-PBL President & CEO, Alexander T. Graham. "Her commitment to supporting local and state advisers combined with her passion for innovation and collaboration make Carla a valuable addition to the National Center team."

Ms. Boulton brings 17 years of classroom experience as well as leadership at the state level of FBLA-PBL in Missouri, Nevada, and Oregon. Ms. Boulton has been a consultant to the National Center since June 2020, after most recently servicing as the Director of Education Programming at TRI Leadership Resources. A graduate of Murray State University in Murray, Kentucky, and the University of Missouri – Columbia, Carla believes that the one of the best educational resources is the group of professional advisers in classrooms throughout the country.
